INNOVATION LIVING™

The Danish sofa bed specialist established in 1971

Danish design since 1971

Innovation Living is a globally recognized sofa bed specialist, known for creating innovative, high-quality, multifunctional furniture that combines aesthetic design with everyday practicality.

Our mission is to design stylish, space-saving solutions that enhance daily living - going beyond the traditional sofa bed. Our designs are created to serve multiple purposes: as comfortable sofas for everyday living, relaxed daybeds, family loungers for social moments, and ultimately as beds or welcoming guest beds when needed.

As consumers, we all share a responsibility to reconsider how we consume. Choosing durable products designed to stand the test of time is one of the most effective ways to reduce resource use and minimize environmental impact.

With this in mind, we are committed to creating designs that unite aesthetics, functionality, and durability - ensuring long-term value and everyday usability. At the same time, we carefully select materials and construction methods with a focus on sustainability, ease of disassembly, and the potential for material recirculation, helping to further reduce the environmental impact.

01 A tribute to the fabulous seventies

We remain captivated by the furniture and interiors of the 1970s - a decade that emerged as the afterglow of the rebellious 1960s. It was an era defined by a desire for new ways of living, where the home became a canvas for experimentation and personal expression.

Designers explored alternative forms and materials, creating pieces with a relaxed, informal attitude - rich in warmth and soul. Earthy tones, vibrant orange accents, wood-paneled walls, hessian textures, and soft, tactile fabrics came together to shape the unmistakable signature of the decade: cozy, expressive, and unapologetically alive.

The design is in the detail

In developing our new collection, we have been deeply engaged in understanding the elements and details that define the signature of the 1970s - and how to reinterpret them within a contemporary context.

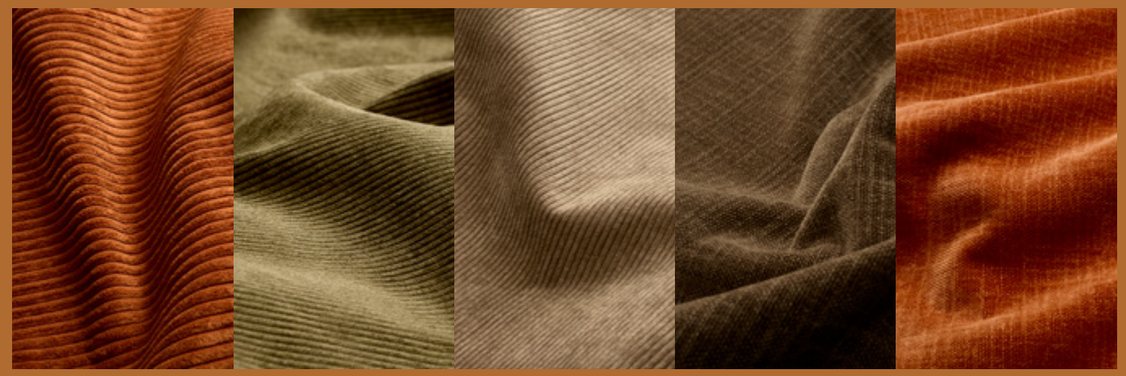

Our ambition has been to capture the essence of the era and thoughtfully bring those characteristic features into play, allowing them to live on in a collection that feels both authentic and relevant today.

Signature details: Wrinkles, buttons & quilting - a language of relaxed comfort, character, and effortless elegance.

Fabrics: Soft, inviting fabrics with a focus on velvet and chenille.

Mikunjo

Designed to adapt effortlessly to your needs

Mikunjo is a refined modular concept built around a multifunctional sofa and a multifunctional lounge chair. Each piece stands beautifully on its own, yet they are designed to work seamlessly together in harmonious combinations. Created with adaptability in mind, Mikunjo responds effortlessly to the changing rhythms of the home. Whether arranged for quiet relaxation or social gatherings, the concept offers a balanced blend of aesthetics, functionality, and exceptional comfort, tailored to meet the moment. Shown in 418 Esina, Truffle. For product details, scan the QR code or see page 143.

Distinctly playful and subtly bohemian

Rooted in the design language of the 1970s, Mikunjo is shaped with a relaxed, bohemian aesthetic that reflects the exceptional comfort it offers. Soft contours and an inviting silhouette create a look that feels both effortless and refined. The quilted, informal expression is not only a visual statement - it is thoughtfully conceived to complement the natural folds and creases that appear as the backrests fold into their sofa positions. The result is a design where function and character merge seamlessly, celebrating comfort in its most authentic form.

A seamless fusion of sofa and chair creates an inviting lounge piece designed for exceptional comfort. Thoughtfully engineered with two adjustable backrest positions, it allows you to tailor your seating experience - from upright relaxation to laid-back lounging.

This configuration is designed to bring people closer - perfect for warm, face-to-face conversations. Its thoughtful layout fosters connection and intimacy, creating a natural setting for meaningful moments and relaxed dialogue.

Mikunjo looks exceptionally comfortable - and it truly is Mikunjo transforms into an exceptionally soft and comfortable bed, offering a generous sleeping area of 125×200 cm. Designed to deliver the same inviting comfort by night as by day, it creates a restful retreat without compromising on style.

The chairs can be used individually, paired with the sofa, or combined with each other as shown here - creating a comfortable chaise longue, an inviting daybed, or a generous single bed. Designed for flexibility, each configuration offers effortless comfort while adapting beautifully to the space and the moment.

Nabli

Comfortable multifunction with an attitude

Nabli embraces the philosophy, aesthetics, and - perhaps most importantly - the comfort ideals of 1970s design. It is an honest and expressive piece, where the distinctive double front legs subtly signal that this is more than an ordinary sofa. The additional set of legs not only defines its character, but also ensures that the transformation from sofa to bed feels intuitive and effortless.

The upholstery remains true to the soft, informal design language of the era, featuring gentle creases and button details that enhance its relaxed personality. This tactile expression is designed to age beautifully, developing a patina that only strengthens its original charm. With a low, soft, and lounge-inspired seating comfort, Nabli invites you to sink in, unwind, and experience design the way it was meant to be felt. Shown in 316 Cordufine, Pine Green. For product details, scan the QR code or see page 154.

"Nabli is a relaxed and authentic design defined by its distinctive lounge aesthetic - low, reclined, and exceptionally comfortable. Generous, high back cushions provide effortless support for the shoulders or gently cradle the head, adapting naturally to the way you choose to sit or lounge.

Inviting and unpretentious, Nabli is designed for lingering moments and laid-back living, where comfort is not just a feature, but the essence of the experience."

Per Weiss

Chief Design Officer

Nabli transforms into an exceptionally soft and comfortable bed, offering a generous sleeping area of 140×200 cm. Designed to deliver the same inviting comfort by night as by day, it creates a restful retreat without compromising on style.

Minimum Quiltus

An Innovation Living icon in new clothes

Our Multifunctionals concept has been an essential part of the Innovation Living DNA since the mid-1990s - and for good reason. It unites outstanding seating comfort with a remarkable bed featuring head elevation, delivering versatility without compromise.

The Quiltus cover introduces a distinctive new aesthetic to the concept, with clear references to the 1970s. Its soft, quilted, and effortlessly informal design creates the impression of a generous, supple cushion elegantly resting on a refined frame - relaxed in spirit, yet architectural in presence. Shown in 412 Esina, Rust Orange. For product details, scan the QR code or see page 158.

As the design is based on full mattresses that simply unfold, comfort remains smooth and consistent - whether used as an occasional or everyday bed. The comfort experience is even and supportive across the entire surface, ensuring true relaxation in every position. As always, the concept remains a refined DIY solution, allowing you to personalize your piece by combining frame, mattress, cover, and textile to suit your individual style and space. See more on pages 120 and 121.

02 Floorlife

Back to the roots

The 1970s redefined the home. Hierarchies dissolved, furniture moved lower, and life shifted to eye level. Interiors became modular, soft, and inviting - designed for togetherness rather than formality. It was an aesthetic rooted close to the floor and a comfort shaped by democratic ideals - a home you could sink into, gather in, and truly live in.

After several years immersed in Copenhagen's creative production collectives, Innovation Living's founder, Flemming Højfeldt, returned to Jutland, Denmark in 1972 to establish his furniture company.

The decision was driven by a clear vision, inspired by the emerging floor life philosophy that was reshaping the way people lived and furnished their homes.

Beanbags and simple, informal, functional designs based on foam constructions formed the foundation. Furniture created for relaxed living - democratically minded, unpretentious, and designed to bring comfort down to floor level.

Today, we are proud to reintroduce selected designs by Flemming Højfeldt and to revive the fundamental intentions that made them so compelling then - and remarkably relevant now. Rooted in a vision of informal living, democratic comfort, and functional simplicity, these designs speak as clearly to contemporary life today as they did when they were first conceived.

Weiss's career began in the arts, where he pursued his passion as a professional rock musician. However, his creative aspirations ultimately led him to design. In 1988, he graduated as an industrial designer from the School of Architecture in Aarhus. Following his graduation, Weiss honed his design skills working briefly with renowned Danish architectural firms such as Schmidt, Hammer & Lassen, and Friis & Moltke, before committing fully to his design vision.

This partnership fostered a close and inspiring dialogue between Panton and Weiss, which continued until Panton's passing in 1998.

Weiss's design philosophy is deeply rooted in a respect for the modernist European design tradition, with a natural affinity for the Scandinavian design ethos. His work embodies a commitment to creating innovative, functional, and enduring designs that enhance everyday life and deliver both aesthetic and practical value.
